Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

Art Unit: 1755

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

The factual inquiries set forth in Graham v. John Deere Co., 383 U.S. 1, 148 USPQ 459 (1966), that are applied for establishing a background for determining obviousness under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) are summarized as follows:

1. Determining the scope and contents of the prior art.
2. Ascertaining the differences between the prior art and the claims at issue.
3. Resolving the level of ordinary skill in the pertinent art.
4. Considering objective evidence present in the application indicating obviousness or nonobviousness.

This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary.

Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

Claims 1-32 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being clearly anticipated by US 5,807,458 to Sanders et al.

The instant claims are drawn to reinforcing elements for cement compositions and methods for improving the properties of cement by addition of these components to cement. The patented invention teaches reinforcing compositions by using elements maintained in alignment with a dispersible containment means, which is considered to anticipate the herein claimed invention. See particularly columns 1-4, 7 and 8.

Claims 1, 4, 5, 13, 14, 15, 18, 19, 24, 25, 29 and 30-32 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being clearly anticipated by WO 00/49211.

The instant claims are drawn to reinforcing elements for cement compositions and methods for improving the properties of cement by addition of these components to cement. The patented invention teaches reinforcing compositions by using a plurality of fibers maintained by binding means, which is considered to anticipate the herein claimed invention. See particularly pages 5-8 and the claims.

Claims 1-32 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over US 5,807,458 to Sanders et al..

The claims lack an inventive step for the same reasons set forth herein above regarding the lack of novelty. A lack of novelty is the epitome of lacking an inventive step.

Claims 1, 4, 5, 13, 14, 15, 18, 19, 24, 25, 29 and 30-32 lack an inventive step under PCT Article 33(3) as being obvious over WO 00/49211.

The claims lack an inventive step for the same reasons set forth herein above regarding the lack of novelty. A lack of novelty is the epitome of lacking an inventive step.

Applicants are advised that any evidence to be provided under 37 CFR 1.131 or 1.132 and any amendments to the claims and specification should be submitted prior to final rejection to be considered timely. It is anticipated that the next office action will be a final rejection.
